1. BACKGROUND: Dominick N. "Nick" Surace, III, is the owner of DNS Solutions, LLC ("DNS"), a full service surveillance and security system installer in Vineland, NJ providing installation and alarm monitoring services to residential and commercial clients throughout South Jersey, Southeastern Pennsylvania and Delaware. Recently, Mr. Surace has formed DNS Solutions Holdings, LLC, a real estate holding company, for the purposes of acquiring the real property located at 2831 S. East Boulevard (currently owned by Vineland Board of Education and tax-exempt). He plans on constructing a 1,200 sq. ft. facility which will house the offices and operations of DNS. 1a. COMPETITION / INDUSTRY / MARKET OUTLOOK: Competition exists on many fronts from providers, pricing and customer service to name a few. For security dealers there has been a much more shift away from the way things have been done forever. As cable and Internet companies come into the market and offer security as part of their offerings, at a much lower cost, and consumer electronics manufacturers offer more and more do-it-yourself ("DIY") offerings for sale online and at mass market retail stores, the traditional security dealer is having to change quickly due to technology or to get out of the business. Many in the industry view the new entrants as necessary and an opportunity to "grow the pie" and gain additional customers as opposed to competing for existing customers. Although cable and internet companies may get the customers initially, it should be noted that references to customer surveys suggest that customers leave these providers due to customer service issues. According to industry sources, competitive pressures abound and it is unlikely that they will abate anytime soon.

People are becoming more safety conscious. With the greater affordability of interactive security alarm systems, a larger span of socioeconomic groups are utilizing these services. Home and business owners want to protect what they have, protect their families and businesses. They want to feel safe in an unsecure world, where the threats that may pose potential personal harm to self, family and treasured possessions require additional security.

1b. PROJECT: The project involves the acquisition of land and permanent financing for a building to be constructed thereupon. Detailed project costs will require verification and have been requested.
